FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ICE JAM UPDATE

Regional District of Fraser-Fort George staff are continuing to monitor the area along the Old Takla Forest Road to determine the impact of the Nechako Ice Jam.

There are minor river level fluctuations throughout the area. As of 3:00 pm this afternoon, there did not appear to be any immediate risk to the homes in the area. The river levels have not impacted the roads and driveways along the Old Takla Forest Road.

The situation remained relatively unchanged in Miworth. There did not appear to be any immediate risk to the homes in the Miworth area.

Staff will continue to monitor the area closely and will be participating in a helicopter flight over the river tomorrow to get an updated view of the condition of the ice cover further upstream.

The Regional District's emergency operations centre remains activated at level one, and no evacuation alerts or orders have been issued.

The Regional District of Fraser-Fort George reminds the public that rivers are unpredictable and in the interest of safety they should not approach the river.
